SAPA Announcements

THANK YOU FOR RENEWING YOUR MEMBERSHIP!

If you are receiving this digest, thank you for renewing your membership on a timely manner! Special thanks to those of you who contributed a round-up donation. Be on the lookout for upcoming announcements including SAPA Board elections, this year's winner of the Peter Attarian Award, and the Holiday Party! Stay tuned.

Let's Take a Hike!

Dear SAPA members,

I wanted to see if anyone would be interested in attending a regular monthly hike with other fellow psychologists and their families/friends. I want to schedule this morning (7am-9ish) hike on the second Saturday of the month. If you are interested, please join me at Sabino Canyon on November 14 at 7am. We can meet under the ramada in the front by the parking lot. Please feel free to bring your partner and/or kids.

You can sign up here. Hope to see you then.

Yoendry Torres, PsyD

COMPLICATED PAIN RECOVERY COACH TRAINING WORKSHOP

Presenter: Jerry Lerner, MD
Date: November 7 & 8 (9:00 - 4:30)
Location: Homewood Suites by Hilton (4250 N. Campbell Ave.)
Presented by: Complicated Pain Recovery (TM) and Sierra Tucson
CEs: 11
Cost: $500 ($250 discount when purchasing 5 tickets or more)

This workshop delves into the true nature of un-resolving pain, as well as explains the four major complicating factors (bio-mechanical stress, hyper-sensitization, metabolic inflammation, and inertial forces) and how they interact to inhibit natural healing. Attendees will learn how to effectively assess their clients, educate them regarding the nature of their pain, coach them toward an integrated program of pain recovery, and identify when additional outside expertise is required.

Participants who successfully complete this workshop will be identified as a Certified Complicated Pain Recovery™ Coach.

ELI W. LANE MEMORIAL MASTER WORKSHOP

THE IMPACT OF AFFECT AND TRAUMA ON DEVELOPMENT: IMPLICATIONS FOR TREATMENT

Presenter: Paul C. Hollinger, MD, MPH
Date: November 7, 2015, 9:00am - 4:00pm
Location: Hacienda del Sol Guest Ranch Resort
Presented by: Southwest Psychoanalytic Society, Arizona Center for Psychoanalytic Studies, University of Arizona Department of Psychiatry
CEs: 5.75
Cost: SPS Members $160, Non-Members $175, Students $55-60

Dr. Paul C. Hollinger will focus on the importance of affect as a foundation for understanding how early environmental trauma can disrupt development. The clinical implications of these ideas for psychoanalytic and psychotherapeutic work with children, adolescents, and adults will be explored. He will discuss affect theory particularly from the perspectives of Darwin, Tomkins, Ekman, Stern, and others. These ideas will be integrated with clinical work of Winnicott, Kohut and relationists, as well as classical psychoanalytic concepts.

The morning sessions will explore affect theory and primary affects, early environmental trauma, and adult and adolescent cases. The afternoon sessions will examine affect theory and developmental disruptions in relation to child/adolescent psychoanalytic work and outcome. we will also discuss the implications of affect theory in areas such as physical punishment,early verbalization of affect in parenting, and education.
