New Event: SAPA Professional Outreach Committee August Meeting

When and How to Call it Quits: Raising the Possibility of Changing Therapists

Thursday, August 28th at 6:00 PM at Vero Amore Plaza Palomino

2920 N. Swan Road (Swan and Fort Lowell)

Tucson, AZ 85712

(520) 325-4122

All of us have had the experience of realizing that our work with a particular client is not going well. Sometimes good consultation or a peer supervision group's input can be helpful, and turn things around. But sometimes it can't. This open discussion will focus on when to think about terminating therapy with a client and how to bring it up with the client. Navigating this minefield of emotions, risks and responsibilities is a daunting task for even the most experienced of therapists, and our hope is to benefit from each other's knowledge and experience around how to do this as well as possible, ideally giving the client an opportunity to move forward in his or her work, with someone else.

For more information or to RSVP, please contact Andy Bernstein, PhD, Professional Outreach Chair, at adbpsy@gmail.com

Seeking a SAPA Speaker

We were contacted by a representative of the JDRF & ADA to provide a half-day educational program followed by a celebration of adult Type 1 diabetics. One of the topics requested for presentation is depression and anxiety in diabetics. The event is scheduled for 15 Nov. Participants known at this time are Western Endocrinology and Lilly Pharmaceutical Diabetes Division for Journey Awards Ceremony. They are seeking a speaker who is familiar with the topic and interested in participating. If interested, please contact Rebecca Gill at j4rgill@comcast.net
