Call for Elections Committee Members

Dear SAPA members,

Election season is quickly approaching, and we are in need of a few members to help coordinate the process. If you are not running for a Board or Committee Chair position, and would be willing to help out, please contact Marisa Menchola at marisam@psychiatry.arizona.edu by October 5. This is a very straightforward process, and all the work gets done via email.

Thanks.

Other Upcoming Events

(SAPA neither sponsors nor endorses the following events, but provides information to our members as a service.)

October 4th, 8:00 - 4:00

Gifted Conference*Canyon Del Oro HS

I want to invite you to a free workshop in Tucson on the social and emotional issues of gifted and talented children. Although the workshop is aimed mostly at parents and teachers of gifted children, it is a very good opportunity for psychologists to learn about the issues that most often arise and resources for meeting those needs. I would encourage psychologists who attend to also bring business cards. In my experience, parents and educators are frequently looking for psychologists who have at least some background and interest in working with these children.

This ties in, too, with an article recently published by the National Register of Health Service Psychologists titled, "Gifted Children and Adults: Neglected Areas of Practice." Here is a link to that article as well.

Alliant Couple and Family Clinic - San Diego

October 31, 2014; 8:30 - 4:00

Sue Johnson - The New Science of Attachment

Hilton Scottsdale Resort and Villas

Hi Everyone! This is a rare opportunity to see Sue Johnson teach about working with highly escalated couples. She is a master at staying attuned with the couples while taking control of the session. At this workshop, you will have the opportunity to hear her consult with 2 highly skilled EFT Trainers (Drs. Lisa Palmer-Olsen and Mark Kaupp) about a case and watch her supervise these Trainers as they work with a live couple. It is a rare unique opportunity to watch these masters work together on a case.

Dear Listserv Members,

Nationally known scholars from around the country, from across Arizona, and from the UA will address questions at the intersection of cognitive science and law in a seven-part lecture series starting Wednesday, September 10, continuing on select Wednesdays during the fall. The lectures are free and open to the public, and CLE credit may be available for members of the Arizona Bar. All programs will begin at 7:00 pm in the Ares Auditorium (Room 164) at the UA College of Law, located at 1201 E. Speedway. This series is jointly hosted by the James E. Rogers College of Law, the Cognitive Science Program in the School of Mind, Brain and Behavior, and the UA College of Science. We appreciate any help you can lend in getting the word out. Thank you!
